THE BIBLE PANORAMA AT HUSTON HALL.—We are glad to see this beautiful Panorama attract so much admiration from our citizens, for it is really a meritorious work of art, and not a mere dross as have been some Panoramas exhibited here. It meets the approbation of all denominations of Christians, as it should, for it is unexceptionable in its details. The impression it gives is good, and its beauties are engraven upon the minds of the beholders. It will be exhibited here but twice more—to-night and to-morrow night, when it will positively leave Dayton for Richmond, Ia. We rather insist upon all our citizens seeing this admirable painting.

MURDERER ARRESTED.—His confession!—The police of Miami County, after pursuing every possible clue to the murder of Manning, near Covington on Friday morning last, have at last been successful. It was ascertained from two brothers named McDowell, that Manning had been recently returned from California, in company with a man named O'Batty; that they had seen them together in California. O'Batty's father resides about four miles above Jackson, Va., Darke Co., and officers, in company with one of the McDowell brothers, proceeded to the place. They found young O'B., and discovered some specks of blood upon his pants. He accounted for this by saying he had killed a hog, and produced a butcher knife with which he had stuck it. He was then charged with the murder, which he at first stoutly denied, but when confronted with McDowell, he became confused, and then confessed to the whole affair. His confession is briefly this:

He and Manning were in California together. M. had been tolerably fortunate, and intended returning to his home in Kentucky, on a visit O'B. desired to come along, but not having the means, proposed that M. should pay the expense; that he should get the money to repay him from his father, whom he represented "well off," when they would then go to Ky. visit his friends, and then return together to California.

They stopped in Dayton last Thursday. Manning purchased a pair of boots of A. A. Phillips, 3d st., and he purchased a suit for both at one of the clothing stores, their clothing being nearly worn out. They went up on the evening train, and got off together at Piqua, and started off for Jacksonville. When near Covington, in the woods, O'B. determined to kill Manning, in order, as he says, to avoid paying him back the money for his expenses, which amounted to a considerable sum, and then to rob him of what he had. Falling back a few steps he shot M. in the head with a revolver, and when he fell he cut his throat with his knife in order to make sure work. O'Batty was arrested and lodged in jail at Troy.

Our informant relates further that early yesterday morning O'B.'s counsel procured a horse and buggy for the purpose of visiting the residence of prisoner's father, and securing all the evidences of the guilt of his client. One of the attorneys engaged for the prosecution also procured an outfit and started in pursuit; but lawyer No. 1 had secured a satchel containing two revolvers, money, and other matters, and made off before his arrival. On their return to Piqua, they had quite a quarrel about the "evidences," but the prosecutor finally got possession of them "in the name of the State." Efforts are being made to break the force of O'B.'s confession; at present the chances look bad for him. The murder was one of the most inhuman ever committed in this part of the State.

RECORDED.—We learn that on Saturday evening a colored man named Ben, who was employed about the Phillips House, attempted to elope by R. B. with an accomplished colored lady, wife of another c. g., named Gordon. They had got to the Depot when they espied old Gordon coming after them. They started off on a run, and were yet running the last we heard of them. Gordon returned to the Depot after his fruitless search, determined that they should not, at least, get away by R. B.

Sorting and Unruly Hand in Hand.

Some are disposed to make a distinction favorable to those engaged in the sorting business, but unruly is the inevitable consequence of it, so long as bank paper is the currency by which the commerce of the people is carried on. We think it was clearly set forth in our previous article on this subject, that regular banking was impossible in a pecuniary way, so long as persons, politically called private bankers, are suffered to trade and traffic in what never was intended as an article of commerce, viz: the coin of the country; the standard by which the value of the products of a nation is determined, the measure that the producing classes are entitled to.

We have been asked, frequently, of late, mostly by desponding Republicans, how is the acknowledged evil of the sorting houses to be abated? Well, we don't profess to be much of a statesman, and we are sure we have had but little experience in financing, but that little would suggest a remedy, the most effectual. Generally speaking, persons engaged in the business of "sorting" (or private banking, if you please), although men in most cases, of acknowledged wealth, have seldom much cash capital of their own; not enough certainly to make a trip with the carpet sack profitable. How then do they manage to get the means to wage such a successful war on the regular banks, that these institutions are no longer of any practical advantage to the community where they are located? We answer that the merchant, the mechanic, the manufacturer and the farmer, and all who deposit their earnings or their surplus funds, and especially the day-laborers in the sorting houses, are the persons who furnish the means to carry on the war, and likewise cripple and curtail their own business, to make these periodical money pressures; and now since the sorting house has got fairly fastened on the people, the money pressure has become a permanent institution, calling into existence another class, aptly termed "money sharks," men destitute of every principle that should govern the dealings of man with his fellow. The measures we propose may appear to some as the result of some private grievance of our own, dictated by a mean spirit of selfishness. We here take the occasion to say that we are actuated by no such feeling. The persons engaged in the sorting business in Dayton, are gentlemen, good citizens, and men of acknowledged wealth; and every dollar placed in their hands for safe keeping, will no doubt be forthcoming on demand. But as a public journalist we conceive it to be our duty to propose means to eradicate, if possible, what is on all sides acknowledged as the only drawback to the return of prosperity, times, which a bounteous Providence has indicated in the plentiful harvest this year has been and is now being gathered all over the land. And we further give the sorting houses, police that let the next Legislature—be what it may—Democratic, Republican or Know Nothing, we intend to advocate not only the passage of an unruly law, but a law also, to grant a license, at a good round sum of money, (the proceeds to be applied to some charitable or educational purpose,) to all those who make a practice of trafficking in the coin of the country; and that no regular Bank be obliged to pay specie with out the production of the license on the demand being made.

We expect these gentlemen now, to re-double their energies, and weep silver tears freely for the election of their candidates to the Legislature. They have openly entered the field, with their own chosen champions, and forced the endorsement of what was termed a Republican Convention. It is not the first time in the history of our country, the money power has entered the arena of party politics; always under cover of some question supposed to be popular with the people. This time the party operators in the drama have donned the old, tattered, thread-bare mantle of the denoted abolition party. We have no fears for the result. The inherent love of our people for honorable, fair dealing, will surely be vindicated, and their scorn and contempt will be visited on the tricksters and money sharks who perpetrate them, seeking to gain power to perpetuate a system of shuffling that, if practiced in some of the despotisms of the old world, would insure the operators a "guard of honor," and an "iron grating" to look through in place of their gold spectacles!

Our venerable neighbor of the Journal, the old time bank organ of Montgomery County, who has spent thirty or forty years of his eventful career as a public Journalist, has suddenly transferred his allegiance to the money sharks, and five per cent. month men, who infest this community. Whether or not the transfer of our neighbor was effected at the time of the sale of the old whig party to the Knownothing lodges, we are not prepared to affirm; but this we do know, that there is but one rusty old pipe of the former bank organ, that breathes forth any sound at all, and that a chronic grunt. Our neighbor also characterizes the efforts of the Democracy to bring about a reform and deliver the people from the clutches of the usurers, "a humbug;" but of all the transparent humbugs that have come within the range of our knowledge, that now being enacted before the people of Montgomery county, is the most glaring. The Republican party, nominally in favor of the rights of naturalized citizens, have nominated men for Legislative offices whose practices make regular banking impossible, and whose solemn oaths, previously taken, have pledged them to eternal hostility to the rights of our adopted citizens.

For the Empire.

Ma. KERRON.—Can you inform your readers how many tubs competed with the Deluge for that "splendid horn" you spoke of them winning at Zanesville? And can you inform us why they are entitled to carry those tubs which you say "sweep so clean?"

AN OUTSIDER.

We do not now remember how many engines competed. We only know that the Deluge was not entitled to it; they would not have received it. The tubs followed, as a matter of course. The competition was open to the State.

There was, we are told, rather less discord in the city yesterday than usual.

Mr. Schenck's Speech.

The Hon. R. C. Schenck of this city, addressed pursuant to notice, a large assemblage of the citizens of Dayton, in front of the Court House on Saturday night. He made a public profession of the faith he has privately held and exhibited at the ballot box ever since the organization of the Republican party. He has quietly voted the ticket of that party from the beginning, but being engrossed wholly for several years past with private and railroad business, he has taken no active part in politics since 1854. Having now a season of greater leisure he made his first appearance on the Republican boards on Saturday night, and was publicly baptized and received into open communion, by Major Parrott who apologized for sundry supposed unbecoming heroics of the entourage, upon the ground that the Republican party was very liberal and catholic in its faith and usages and admitted all kinds of sheep into the fold. Mr. Schenck's speech was directed chiefly against popular sovereignty and in favor of congressional intervention to prohibit slavery in the territories. He spoke some two hours, and although the matter was evidently crude and ill-prepared, kept up the close attention of the audience throughout. The speech, however, was "fossiliferous" in its whole extent, reminding one of the pre-Adamic age, and of the old Red Sandstone. We don't think it pleased the "moderns" of his own party; for Black Republicanism however poisonous, is of recent growth and is a live virus tree, which will not bear grafting on the old whig stock. But as Judge Black said in his reply to Judge Douglas, so say we of the speech—its libel, which being interpreted means "let 'er rip," libel and all. It is evident, however, that the northern and southern wing of the Republican party in Ohio are preparing for a bloody fight—a second old whig—this winter. We don't care much which wins, but we bet our money on the jet black horse.

THE NEW WONDER!

Peter Josse's Hair Restorative!

THIS Hair Restorative is now acknowledged to be the best ever invented for all diseases of the hair and the scalp, and it has worked wonders wherever used. Several of our citizens have tried it, and speak in the highest terms of its curative properties. The following is one among the many certificates just received by the Proprietor—

DAYTON, Sept. 18, 1859.

Mr. P. Josse.—For several years past, from some cause, my hair has been gradually falling out, until entire baldness threatened us. We have tried various remedies, but without any good result. We were induced to try your "Restorative" by hearing it highly spoken of by those who had used it, and who assured us that it had the effect of bringing a new and vigorous growth of hair upon their heads. We have used it, and its good effects are plainly visible in the renewed growth of hair where we were fast becoming bald. We cannot recommend the Restorative too highly.
